

SHUNGA EROTIC ART

"Our approach for the ANME Show in January, is to show one new collection coming and to be available for all questions retailers or distributors might have. It's still a great place to meet a lot of customers, so we are glad to be exhibitors and participate in that event. To be honest, I expect the show to be calm and not very busy. January is less and less popular since the ANME is twice a year, so we will save big launches for July", says Jean-Pierre Hamelin, Marketing Director of Shunga.

SWISS NAVI

"We are humbly appreciative of our recognition at the eroFame exhibition this year. As you know we were awarded the SIGN Lubricant Provider for 2018 as well as the EAN Lubricant company of 2018 awards. We owe our good fortune to old fashion hard work. Hard work by Swiss Navy and our great European distribution family. We have such strong partners; without whom we would not be able to boast the success we now enjoy. The awards this year were wonderful, however, the record month of sales in October that accompanied them... was just fantastic. Now we are preparing for the AMNE in January. I will be inviting International visitors, prospective clients and current clients to visit us at our normal booth location of L-10 and L-11 at the show. We will use the AMNE show to launch at least one of our new international support initiatives. The January show is a popular venue for the European clientele, as it offers them the chance to get out of the chilly European weather, take in some LA sunshine and further their business objectives with their USA vendors and distribution partners. I am looking forward to this year's show, seeing old friends as well as making new ones. We at Swiss Navy always have something special for show days. Stop by our booth, we look forward showing you the Swiss Navy advantages", announces Randal Withers, International Sales Manager at M.D. Science Lab.

SYSTEM JO

"We are very excited to be launching a completely NEW Brand targeted at the gay market called 'Bucked', designed by men for men. We are eagerly awaiting the launch of a new range of DONA Essential Massage Oils with 5 new scents to choose from. And for JO we are launching a new range of 'Candy Shop' inspired flavoured lubricants! And with all of this we will also be having a new booth in the main hall! Looking forward to sharing all our new launches in January", says Becky Buffham, European Sales Manager of System Jo.
